

ABSTRACT

A golf bag sustained with a leg is provided, including a bag body for storing golf clubs; a base mounted at the bottom of the bag body and having a flat surface portion, an anchored portion, an inclined plane portion; and a support piece detachably mounted
5 at the bottom of the base. The support piece includes a flat sheet and a pair of opposing first fastening portion and second fastening portion formed on the flat sheet. The first fastening portion is assembled with the leg, and the second fastening portion is coupled to the anchored portion, so as to support the golf bag up by means of the assembled leg and support piece.

10

* * * * *